

Who Can Belong? The Honor of Being Invited

Selection is based on professional qualifications, leadership potential and personal qualities. Those who accept the invitation to join commit to being active participants in the life of the organization and pay nominal annual membership dues.

Educators considered for membership are women who:

- Are employed in an educational position or as a self-employed educator
- Are retired educators from an educational position
- Live in one of 18 countries where DKG is established
- Membership is by invitation only and considered a prestigious honor.

DKG Today

Women of today's Delta Kappa Gamma Society International serve as change agents. Members span the spectrum of generations and educational involvement and are known as Key Women Educators. Members reach beyond standard expectations, strive for excellence in education and work as a collaborative force.

The Society offers members assistance with graduate study through:

1. scholarships
2. grants and stipends for research
3. recognition of exemplary achievements
4. opportunities for professional growth.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International has been organized in 18 member countries. Member countries are listed in order of founding.
